How you can help local schools and students

Thanks to generous donations from Lakewood residents and businesses, the Lakewood Education Foundation (LEF) has been able to give grants for hundreds of classroom improvement projects in Lakewood schools since beginning in 2003. This past year, 86 classroom projects in 16 Lakewood schools were funded for a total of $40,385. This level of contributions came in amounts large and small and shows the importance that Lakewood residents and businesses place on our local schools...and the trust they place in LEF to select worthy projects.

LEF is a non-profit group run by Lakewood residents. An annual fireworks stand, October golf tournament, and lots of individual donations raise the annual support funding. After very modest expenses, 100% of donations reach kids in Lakewood classrooms.

The most popular request by teachers last year for classroom grants, which average about $500, was for books and technology to support distance learning during the pandemic. With schools returning to in-person learning, teacher requests may include some of the popular items from the recent past such as reading software and educational field trips to aquariums, museums and even the UCI Center for the Neurobiology of Learning and Memory.

You can help for this coming school year by making a donation. Any size is appreciated and put to good use.

Donating is easy. Just make out a separate check to the Lakewood Education Foundation and enclose it with the completed form below.

See a video and learn more about LEF at www.lakewoodcity.org/LEFvideo.

- Water-wise sprinklers with high-efficiency standards, drip irrigation systems and hand watering with a shut-off nozzle may be used 3 times per week for 20 minutes per station/area/zone from June to September, and 2 times per week for 20 minutes from October to May.

For additional rules, and for questions and tips on reducing water use, keeping trees healthy during the drought, and getting rebates for water-wise irrigation and landscaping, go to www.lakewoodcity.org/WaterConservation or call city staff at 562-866-9771, ext. 2140.

The new rules affect all residents and businesses served by the Lakewood Water Resources Department, which means customers west of the San Gabriel River.

Residents and businesses east of the San Gabriel River are served by the Golden State Water Company, which is implementing its own water conservation rules and notifying its customers. For details, go to www.gswater.com/central-basin-east or call 800-999-4033.

“Lakewood has a great community spirit. If we each do our part to reach our conservation goal, we will be successful,” says Lakewood Water Director Derek Nguyen. “In the process, please be courteous toward your neighbors so we get through this in a positive way befitting our community.”

Vicki Stuckey honored as her council term ends

Lakewood City Council honors Vicki L. Stuckey at Lakewood Celebrates.

At a "Lakewood Celebrates" community reception on June 14, Council Member Vicki L. Stuckey was honored as she winds down her two years of by-district council election system, Stuckey was ineligible to run for a full council term in 2022 because she lives in a part of the city that will not she had to leave the council in 2022 and could not potentially run for a seat until 2024.

A 30-year resident of Lakewood, Stuckey previously had served 19 years on Lakewood city commissions, including four years on the Community Safety Commission and 15 years on the Planning and Environment Commission. She served as chair of the latter commission four times.

"Vicki had just retired in 2019 after working 34 years for the Los Angeles County Sheriff's Department, rising through the ranks from a deputy to ultimately serving as captain of the Altadena Sheriff's Station," said Mayor Steve Croft at Lakewood Celebrates. "So perhaps the stars were

Water conservation rules in Lakewood

Water-wise sprinklers deliver water more efficiently.

Because Lakewood gets all its water from aquifers under the city that have not been impacted as much by the state-wide drought, the city has been among the last in California to have significant conservation rules imposed by the state government.

However, given the increasing severity of the drought, the state government recently mandated new rules that now require every community, including Lakewood, to reduce water use by at least 15% from the community's 2020 usage.

To help Lakewood meet this reduction level, it

3 times per week for 20 minutes per station/area/zone from June to September, and 2 times per week for 20 minutes from October to May. Water-wise sprinklers emit water in narrow, finger-like streams at a much slower and more efficient rate (so they need more time) and with far less evaporation and waste than spray sprinklers.

2) Watering is limited to before 9 a.m. or after 5 p.m.

Additional rules can be found at www.lakewoodcity.org.

Garage Clean Up?

org/WaterConservation. With questions, or for tips on reducing water use, keeping trees healthy during the drought, and getting rebates for water-wise irrigation and landscaping, call city staff at 562-866-9771, ext. 2140.

Many of Lakewood's parks and street medians are irrigated with recycled water, and will continue to be irrigated in the future. "Recycled water" is wastewater or stormwater that has been treated to a level that is safe to use for irrigation. In addition, the irrigation of trees can continue during the drought restrictions. Lakewood also operates a water truck that uses recycled water.

If a violation of the water rules is spotted, Lakewood will start with a friendly reminder about the rules. For a first formal violation, there will be a written warning from the city with no penalty. A second violation will bring a citation of $100, with further citations bringing fines up to $500 and the potential for flow restrictors being installed at the residence.

To help residents reduce their water use, spot any leaks and save money, residents can sign up to use the free information available from their "smart water meters" which Lakewood installed four years ago. Access the information at www.lakewoodcity.org/SmartWater.

"Lakewood has a great community spirit. If we each do our part to reach our conservation goal, we will be successful," said Lakewood Water Director Derek Nguyen. "In the process, please be courteous toward your neighbors so we get through this in a positive way befitting our community." ♦
