The 2024 Annual Water Quality Report is now available!

The 2024 Water Quality Report covers all the testing performed from January 1 to December 31, 2024. To read the report, compare the Amount Detected value for each substance listed against the value in the MCL (or AL or SMCL) column. If the Amount Detected value is smaller, your water meets the health and safety standards set for the substance. Last year, there were no violations of state and federal drinking water standards.

Water Q & A

What type of container is best for storing water?

Consumer Reports has consistently advised that glass or BPA-free plastics such as polyethylene are the safest choices. To be on the safe side, do not use any container with markings on the recycle symbol showing 7PC (that's code for BPA). You could also consider using stainless steel or aluminum with BPA-free liners.

How much emergency water should I keep?

Typically, 1 gallon per person per day is recommended. For a family of four, that would be 12 gallons for 3 days. Humans can survive without food for 1 month, but can only survive 1 week without water.

How long can I store drinking water?

The disinfectant in drinking water will eventually dissipate, even in a closed container. If that container housed bacteria prior to filling up with the tap water, the bacteria may continue to grow once the disinfectant has dissipated. Some experts believe that water could be stored up to six months before needing to be replaced. Refrigeration will help slow the bacterial growth.

How long does it take a water supplier to produce one glass of treated drinking water?

It could take up to 45 minutes to produce a single glass of drinking water.

Which household activity wastes the most water?

Toilet flushing is by far the largest single use of water in a home (accounting for 30% or more of total water use). Toilets use about 4–6 gallons per flush, so consider an ultra-low-flow (ULF) toilet, which requires approximately 1.5 gallons.

SUBJECT: 2024 Annual Water Quality Report

Dear Current Resident:

Each year, the City of Woodland prepares a Consumer Confident Report (CCR), also known as an Annual Water Quality Report, which summarizes the results of all the testing detected in drinking water during the year prior. The Safe Drinking Water Act (SDWA) requires the city to make this report available and accessible to City of Woodland water supply users. The purpose of the CCR is to raise customer awareness about the quality of their drinking water, the level of any detected contaminants, the source of potable water including vulnerabilities to the source, and the City of Woodland's compliance with State and Federal regulations. It is important to note that detection of a contaminant does not necessarily mean that a hazard exists. Consumer confidence reports provide information to help consumers make informed choices and to become aware of the challenges to protecting drinking water resources.

The report is available online with an English and Spanish version at:

<http://www.cityofwoodland.gov/WQR> &
<http://www.cityofwoodland.gov/WQR/Espanol>
